Congo Leaders' Feud Heads For Parliament

Lumumba, Kasavubu Look to Bolster Rival Claims Amid Fighting

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—President Joseph Kasavubu and Premier Patrice Lumumba looked to Parliament today to bolster their rival drives for power as violence flared between the warring Congo leaders.

Kasavubu was expected to request parliamentary approval for a new cabinet headed by Joseph Ileo, moderate Senate leader whom he has chosen to replace Lumumba.

Lumumba was reported seeking a vote of confidence from Parliament for his left-leaning regime. But observers wondered whether Parliament could do much to break the deadlock, tightened by the insistence of each leader that he has fired the other.

The feud turned into violence Tuesday night when Congo troops backed Lumumba beat and clubbed Kasavubu supporters demonstrating against the premier.

Taking a stronger hand to stem the growing threat of civil war, the U.N. command seized the government radio network thus silencing Lumumba who had counted on his oratory to woo the Congolese.

(But Kasavubu circumvented U.N. radio control by broadcasting from Brazzaville, across the Congo River from Leopoldville in the former French colony now called the Congo Republic. Kasavubu declared he still is the Congo's chief of state and his ministers had no power to depose him. In his broadcast, monitored in London, the president said he could count on the Congo army to support him in his struggle with Lumumba whom he accused of plunging the country toward dictatorship and communism.)

Kasavubu is banking on the stiffening authority of the United Nations to restore order in the republic and support him as chief of state.

Lumumba is gambling on aid from the Communists who have been funneling in technicians, trucks and troop transport planes, to keep him in power.

To keep the feud from erupting into full civil war, U.N. troops sealed off traffic into Leopoldville airport by blocking the runway with Jeeps, passenger ramps and baggage trucks. Similar action was taken at airports at Matadi, Luluabourg, Bakwanga, Stanleyville, Bukavu and other points.

The action stopped air movement of troops and blocked a Soviet airlift. Official observers said 10 of the Soviet Ilyushin-12 planes carried troops to Bakwanga Monday where Lumumba's forces are trying to put down secessionists.

Pieck, E. German President, Dies After Long Illness

BERLIN (AP)—Wilhelm Pieck, 84, president of Communist East Germany, died this morning, the official news agency ADN announced.

A bulletin signed by four doctors said a sudden weakness of the heart on Sunday was complicated by an inflammation of the lungs.

Pieck, whose job was largely that of a figurehead, had been too ill to appear in public since July 19, 1958. At that time other Communist leaders helped him to the stage at a big party celebration. Walter Ulbricht, the deputy premier, is the real political leader in East Germany.

One of Pieck's last acts was to receive Seydoun Conte as ambassador from Guinea, officially announced as the first country outside the Communist bloc to recognize the East German state. This was in March. President Sekou Toure has since repudiated the recognition.

Pieck's term as president was due to expire in October 1961. One son and two daughters survive. Arthur Pieck is general manager of the East German airline, Lufthansa. Lore Stalmer is East German ambassador to Yugoslavia. His other daughter, Elly Winter, took care of him in his last illness.

The fat and jovial Pieck was a long-time Communist revolutionary who lived much of his life outside Germany. He returned in 1945 from exile in Moscow, and in 1949, when the Soviets converted their German zone of occupation into a "democratic republic," he was installed as first president.

2 Hurt In Rt. 14 Headon Crash Today

4 Persons Injured In Traffic Mishaps

Four persons were injured in area traffic accidents investigated in the last 24 hours by State Highway Patrolmen.

Two men are in Salem City Hospital this morning with injuries suffered at 7:43 a.m. today when their cars collided head-on on Alternate Rt. 14, a mile east of Washingtonville.

Patrolmen at the Lisbon post-were still investigating the accident and could give little detail at press time. Both cars were demolished, according to reports.

Drivers of the cars were William Callahan, 19, of RD 3, Salem, who suffered cuts of the chin and a compound fracture of the right knee and David Huff, 26, of 1256 Bacon St., East Palestine, who received multiple body cuts, a fracture of the right knee and fracture of the right arm.

Huff is reported in fair condition by hospital authorities. There was no condition report on Callahan.

Greenford Man Hurt

Also in Salem City Hospital with injuries suffered in an auto accident is Louis Mann Jr., 18, of Greenford. Patrolmen at the Lisbon Post said Mann was driving south of Rt. 45, a half-mile north of Lisbon at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday when his car and one driven by Shirley Cica, 26, of East Liverpool collided while Shirley, northbound on Rt. 45, was attempting a left turn.

Mann is reported in fairly good condition.

New Well At United School In Operation

A new well has been drilled and placed in operation at the United Local School, it was announced last night at the regular meeting of the United Schools Board of Education.

The well will make up for a lack of water at the school created by the inadequacy of the single well used in recent years. Cost of the new one was set at $7,555.

Joseph Marra, guidance counselor, was employed to coach junior high school athletes. Also employed were Joseph Yovanovich and Clyde Hilliard, both as substitute bus drivers.

A charge of 50 cents per student for elementary art was approved by the board. It was noted that cost of the program, just started this year, requires student participation to cut expenses.

The Farmers' National Bank was accepted as a depository for school funds for the next two years.

A resolution permitting school bus use for students involved in school activities was approved.

Superintendent Dale Gates reported that he conducted an orientation meeting with the system's 49 teachers and 17 bus drivers Tuesday.

A budget hearing between the board and the county budget commission was scheduled today.

Agriculture Engineer To Visit County Farms

West Branch Adopts Budget Of $759,000

10 Teachers Named By Board In New School District

West Branch Board of Education approved a 1960-1961 budget of $759,000 — the first since the district was formed — at a meeting Tuesday night.

A breakdown of the budget is as follows: General property, $332,000; Foundation Fund, $390,000; Classified property, $30,000; and miscellaneous, $7,000.

The board also agreed to rent Reilly Stadium in Salem for the 1960 football season at $85 for each of West Branch's five home games. They will be played at 7:45 Sept. 24; Oct. 8, 15 (2 p.m. Sat. afternoon); and 29; and Nov. 12.

In other action, the board hired 16 teachers to complete the district's teaching staff for the coming year: West Branch High School—Gilbert Fitzpatrick, graduate of Youngstown University, English, $4,450; Burton J. Smith of Poland, shop, $4,325; Gail Lee Malmsherry, Malone College graduate, librarian, $3,500; Robert J. Cannon, Youngstown University, English, $4,570; Lucile Van Nosdram, Kent State University, commercial studies, $3,950.

Teaching at Knox will be Warren Luce, eighth grade, $4,440, and Loren Less, seventh grade, $3,700. Douglas Van Nostran will teach seventh grade at Maple Ridge at $4,050 and Loreta Jamu, sixth grade, $3,950. Gwynne Galpin will teach elementary music, grades 1-6, at $4,450.

Emma Herold was rehired as secretary at the Beloit School for half-days, as per salary scale; and Ronald Brunner, DR 5, Alliance. Thomas Wallace, RD 1, Salem and Emmet Weizenacker of Beloit were hired as substitute bus drivers.

To Aid Slow Learners

On the recommendation of West Branch School Executive Clint O'Heacock, the board agreed to find another room and teacher for a third class of slow-learners, because of the age span and number of students enrolling in these classes. Three written requests have been received and accepted from children in the Mahoning Local District, who will pay their tuition and transportation costs. Nine other verbal requests have been made so far.

A letter was reviewed from a West Branch senior who requested to be released to go to Mahoning Local, in order to participate in that school's trades program. In cases such as this, however, the board adheres to the general policy of not releasing students to go to another school district. The request was denied.

In further action, members agreed to secure insurance on books and office supplies at the district's Beloit office, and accepted the resignation of Harold James, shop teacher at West Branch High School.

Mrs. Frances Myton was hired at $5 per day, as supplied by the state, to provide transportation for three students in the district enrolled in a night-saving class in Alliance. Mrs. Esther Moffett was hired as secretary at the high school at $190 a month.

The board will ask the Department of Education to recharter the Goshen high school at Damascus as West Branch High School for the coming four years.

1,493 ENROLLED AT LISBON

LISBON — A total of 1,493 pupils was registered when the Lisbon public schools opened this morning.

The high school and eighth grade showed 510 students; Lincoln school 730 and McKinley 253.

School Stalls on Accepting Students

The nation's largest segregated school system at Houston opens today theoretically integrated, but the Negro students won't be notified until Friday if they have been accepted.

The Board of Education voted Tuesday night to allow Negroes to enroll in first grades of previously all-white schools in the 170,000-pupil district but instructed Supt. John McFarland to delay their admission until Friday.

The decision prevented seven Negro pupils, who qualified under the board's transfer rule, from attending opening classes today. Dr. Henry Petersen, board president, said the delay was needed to "process Negro youngsters."

"No court or court case says we must lessen the efficiency of our schools when we integrate," commented Stone Wells, board vice president.

The action was taken at an emergency board meeting shortly after the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans turned down an appeal and Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled the district would not lose $6 million in state school funds.

Wilson held that a school district which integrated under federal court order did not do so voluntarily and thus was not subject to penalties of a state law.

The Houston developments came on a day marked by peaceful school integration for the first time in Richmond, Va., capital of the Confederacy, and two other

Fewer Pupils In School Here On Opening Day

3,468 Attendance Shows 53 Decline; Junior High Up

Enrollment in the Salem Public Schools this morning totaled 3,468, a drop of 53 below last year's first-day registration of 3,521, Supt. Paul E. Smith reported.

However, the total should rise considerably after pupils in afternoon kindergarten classes are counted and as late students register, he said.

The Junior High School showed the only increase in enrollment so far, with 825 pupils in attendance today, as compared to 779 a year ago. At the Senior High, only 693 students were counted, as compared to 702 on the first day last year.

Because kindergarten figures are not complete, totals were down in every grade school.

Fourth Street had 521 students today and 564 a year ago; Buckeye, 205 today, 224 last year; McKinley, 331 today, 341 last year; Prospect, 305 today, 321 last year; and Reilly, 588 students today, as compared to 590 a year ago.

The first morning of school went smoothly, Supt. Smith reported, with only a few seventh grade pupils getting lost in the Junior High building and some younger children registering in the wrong elementary school.

Tables for the new cafeteria at the Junior High, which received its first students at noon, arrived last night and were installed this morning.

Organizational meetings were held Tuesday at the high school. At a system-wide teachers meeting in the morning, Holland Cameron discussed the new Salem Institute of Technology and Supt. Smith spoke on curriculum planning and educational goals.

Walter Null, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Orein Naragon, head of the Board of Education, spoke at a noon luncheon for the teachers.

In the afternoon, Assistant Superintendent Darrel Padely met with school custodians, cafeteria workers and other maintenance personnel.

Only a slight increase in enrollment was recorded at St. Paul School today, with 504 students registering, as compared to 501 in attendance on the first day last year, Sister Benedicta, principal, announced.

Hay Loft Fall Puts Boy, 9, In Hospital

Two area children are confined to Salem City Hospital following miscellaneous accidents Tuesday.

Edward Manning, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Manning of 511 W. Pershing St., suffered fractures of the right arm and leg in a fall from a hay loft. He is reported in fairly good condition.

In good condition is Michael Zehentbauer, 18-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zehentbauer of RD 4, Lisbon, who drank a small amount of cleaning fluid.

Mayor's Veto Message Is Officially Read

The previously published message from Mayor Dean Cranmer to City Council in which the mayor vetoed the City Income Tax ordinance was read to City Council Tuesday night and submitted to Council Committee of the Whole.

The mayor submitted the report first at a special meeting of Council he called Friday night. However, only four members attended that meeting and it ended abruptly with the message never being read.

The mayor was not present last night.

In his message the mayor cited as major reasons for vetoing the ordinance, its rate, salary of the deputy auditor, salary of the tax consultant, and the fact that it was not put up to a vote by the electorate.

The tax ordinance was passed by Council Aug. 23 to run for 15 months commencing Oct. 1. The rate of taxation is one-half of one per cent, of 50c on every $100 earned.

The prevalent opinion is that Council will override the veto. This will require a two-thirds vote of all members and cannot be done until 10 days have passed from the time of the mayor's veto, which was dated Sept. 1.

Besides the mayor's absence from last night's meeting, others not attending included Council President Michael Schuller and Councilman Fred Koenreich, both of whom are on vacation.

2 Youths Charged With Auto Theft

EAST PALESTINE—Two Pittsburgh youths pleaded guilty to charges of auto theft when arraigned in Judge Earl Spalding's County Court Tuesday afternoon and were bound over to the Columbiana County Grand Jury on $3,000 bond.

The pair, Theodore Johnson Jr., 19, and Lawrence Lehw, 18, were arrested early Tuesday in New Brighton while they were asleep in a car they allegedly stole here at 10 p.m. Monday. The car was owned by Clyde Rummel.

Johnson also was charged with operating a stolen car.

Prior to coming to East Palestine, the pair allegedly stole a car in Erie, Pa., and drove it to the East Palestine-Negley area. The car was found abandoned on N. Market St.

the month's expenditures. In the General Fund, hard-hit recently by diminishing income and increased expenses, the balance Aug. 31 was $14,599.44.

Major sources of revenue during the month was an intangible property tax receipts of $27,000, plus smaller amounts in sales taxes, parking meters, mayor's office receipts, etc. The fund spent $26,072 during the month.

In the street fund, the balance was $5,478 remaining from a balance at the beginning of the month of $9,072 plus receipts of $6,490. Spent during the month was $10,062.

The water department had a balance of $10,858.63 and sewer, $1,032.42.

A recommendation that a zoning change be made on E. Pershing St. between a point east of Madison Ave. and Southeast Blvd. was recommended to City Council by the Zoning Commission. The recommendation has been submitted to a Council Committee of the Whole.

A report from the State Highway Department was received noting that it gave final approval to the construction work completed on Rts. 14 and 62 in and north of the city. The work on the highways included widening and resurfacing.

Mrs. Gust Zantal requested that Council look into improving the parking situation on N. Lincoln Ave. north of Superior St. She said that since the parking has been restricted in the area, her grocery business has declined. Council promised to check the matter with the State Highway Department.

The parking restriction was created as a condition of resurfacing of the street.

Cites Parking Violations

Enforcement of city ordinances or the lack of enforcement, came under fire from Mrs. Dorothy McKibbin, 317 Woodland Ave., and from Council. Mrs. McKibbin reminded both Council and responsible law enforcement agencies for not following up on traffic and parking laws as required in city ordinances.

She said she could see no reason for Council to enact more laws in a community where those on the books "are not enforced." She made particular reference to double parking in the downtown area by both commercial vehicles and shoppers and to parking in "no parking zones" such as E. State St. in front of the Post Office.

Councilman Carl Abe, sitting in the president's chair in place of the vacationing Michael Schuller, said he felt the absence of enforcement was due to a lack of "cooperation between the administration and the departments." He along with Councilman Ralph Zimmerman, noted that these issues had been brought before Council before and at those times it was indicated that a lack of enforcement was evident.

Along the same lines, Councilman Arthur Hanna said that the situation of trucks rounding the turn off State St. onto the Benton Rd., was getting extremely "dangerous." He said the green arrow

Investigation Underway on Clerk's Hiring

Reports Indicate Both Were Mentally Sick, Confused

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Capitol Hill hearing that could send sparks darting through high government agencies has been scheduled for Sept. 16 into the case of the two turncoat code clerks.

Plans for the hearing were announced within hours after Bernon F. Mitchell, 31, and William H. Martin, 29, turned up at a Moscow news conference and accused the United States of threatening world peace.

President Eisenhower promptly branded the pair "self-confessed traitors."

The Pentagon said one of them was mentally sick and both were obviously confused.

Chairman Francis E. Walter, D-Wa., of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, said the FBI had advised the National Security Agency that one of the pair was a homosexual. Walter said the FBI gave the NSA this information before the two were hired in 1957.

Walter said he could not identify which one he meant. The Pentagon didn't say which one it considered mentally ill.

A Pentagon spokesman, asked about Walter's charge, said the department was sticking by its statement of last Friday — that FBI files contained no derogatory information about the two.

The big question was this: How could the pair — one now accused of being a homosexual, one identified as mentally sick and both listed as "obviously confused" — be hired or hang onto jobs in one of the top secret government agencies?

NSA is a defense unit with headquarters about 20 miles from Washington. It operates 24 hours a day, intercepting radio signals and concentrating on codes and communications intelligence.

The agency was reported to have begun a sweeping investigation of its own.

The Pentagon acknowledged that since early August it had been in possession of a letter the pair left in a bank safe deposit box before leaving the country. The letter was seized by court order.

The turncoats read copies of the letter to newsmen in Moscow. Among other things, the statement accused the United States

Woman Is Injured In City Traffic

One woman was treated for minor injuries suffered in one of three traffic accidents investigated by Salem Police Tuesday.

The injured woman was identified as Jean A. Weber, 31, of 599 Jefferson St. Police said she was treated by a physician for a back injury after her car was hit from behind by a car driven by Joe Lewis, 49, of Youngstown, at 12:50 p.m. on S. Ellsworth, north of Wilson St. Police said she was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Francis L. Goerig, 16, of RD 1, LeLetonia, was cited to juvenile court Tuesday at 2:50 p.m. after his car rammed the one driven by Minnie L. Lippert, 60, of RD 4, Salem, at the intersection of E. State and Ellsworth Ave. Goerig was turning left off State St. onto Ellsworth when the mishap occurred, police said.

Faulty brakes were held responsible for a two-car accident which occurred on N. Lincoln Ave. and E. State at 1:40 p.m. Police said a car driven by Francis J. Anderson, 35, of RD 1, Hanoverton, had trouble difficulty while he was making the turn off State St. onto Lincoln Ave. sending the car into the rear of one driven by Elmer J. Casto, 23, of 184 Jennings Ave., which was stopped in a line of traffic.

2. The U.S. Court of Appeals arranged for a hearing this morning on whether Letts can go ahead with his proposed installation of former FBI agent Terence F. McShane as chairman of the three-man Teamsters Board of Monitors.

The monitor board was established by Judge Letts to guard against corruption in the 1,600,000-member Teamsters Union. Hoffa and his union are seeking to block McShane's appointment. McShane participated in several federal investigations of Hoffa.

3. The Teamsters Executive Board opens a meeting here today, with Hoffa presiding.

Letts held a preliminary meeting in his chambers Tuesday with attorneys for the Teamsters and the monitors trying to work out a voluntary settlement. These compromise efforts are to be resumed Thursday.

The legal situation goes back to late 1957 when Hoffa was elected Teamsters president. A group of union members charged in a lawsuit he had rigged his election through alleged illegal choice of delegates. This litigation was compromised to permit Hoffa to take office provisionally under supervision of the monitors.

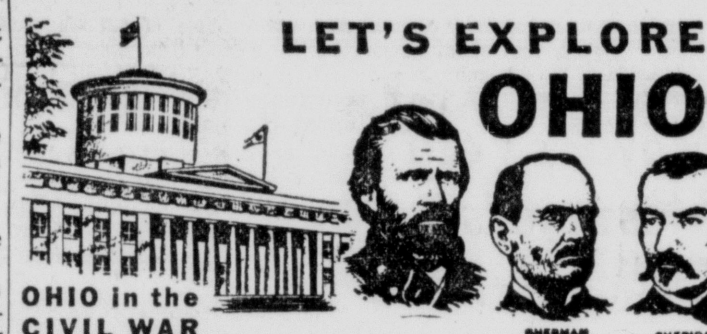

The monitors and Hoffa have never gotten along. The most recent monitor chairman, Martin F. O'Donoghue, resigned several months ago saying he despaired of getting Hoffa to accept suggested reforms.

"Ohio's greatest orator for two generations" is the way historian Henry Howe described General William H. Gibson whose monument stands beside the court house at Tiffin.

At the start of the Civil War, in 1861, the 49th Ohio Volunteer Infantry regiment was organized at Camp Noble in Tiffin and Gibson became its Colonel. The regiment was equipped at Camp Dennison near Cincinnati and it became part of the Army of the Ohio to serve in Kentucky, Tennessee and Mississippi. In 1863, the 49th was in the Army of the Cumberland and it went with General Sherman on the Atlanta campaign.

General Gibson returned to Tiffin to his law practice after the War and was in great demand as a speaker on civic and patriotic occasions throughout this State.

During his lifetime, General Gibson participated in twelve presidential campaigns as a campaign speaker. In the Lincoln campaign, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Ohio author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," heard General Gibson speak and she had this to say: "I have heard many of the renowned orators of Europe and our country, but I have never sat for two and one half hours

Barnard Coeds Win In Battle Of Bermudas

NEW YORK (AP)—Never ones to skirt the issue, the rosy-kneed girls at Barnard College have won the battle of Bermuda shorts.

Word has come down from the top brass that shorts worn to class and library when sessions start later this month will be okay if they are not: too short, too bright, or, ahem, too tight.

However, across the street at Columbia University, the girls will simply have to wear long coats over the shorts. There are boys over there.

Barnard's capitulation came after months of smoldering stalemate. A ban on shorts and slacks announced last May brought a howl of protest from the girls and mixed reaction from the boys.

The girls demanded to decide for themselves what to wear and not to wear on campus.

At Columbia many a youth expressed dismay at the infringement of the freedom to expose a bit of thigh.

However, at Barnard one male instructor who faced the girls en masse in short-befrocked ranks in his art classes put forward the view that many would do well to cover up.

Elimination of Dumps Urged by County

LISBON—The only practical way to control or eliminate unsanitary dumps in the county is through ordinances or regulations passed or adopted by the various municipalities and townships to regulate the collection and disposal of such refuse, Harry Stockdale, Columbiana County sanitarian, reports.

Action was taken recently by Salem and the County Health Department to eliminate two of the worst dumps in the county and to exterminate thousands of rats municipalities will be called on for which had infested them.

In the immediate future other similar cooperation and action, Stockdale said.

Townsend: Too Much, Too Soon

Since Dr. Francis E. Townsend set the country on its ear 25 years ago with his $200 a month for everybody who would retire at 60 and everybody else unable to work, politicians and careerist do-gooders have been milking his idea like a cow.

Of him at his death it can be said that he proposed too much too soon. His idea of $200 a month for voluntary retirees and the incapacitated was to large an order in the mid-'30s. A fraction of that hooked up to a sliding scale and a now-you-see-it-now-you-don't scheme for forcing people into retirement at 65 sounded more feasible. Also benefits for the unemployed and the unemployable. And now, the beginning of benefits for the sick.

Bit by bit, squirt by squirt, the welfare-statists are milking the potentialities out of the original Townsend plan. It was the beginning, in a way, of the welfare state in America. Except for Jacob S. Coxey's modest plan for taking care of the unemployed, no one ever had come out flatfooted for the principle that workers should be expected to provide enough wherewithal for nonworkers to subsidize their purchasing power and bolster the national economy.

THE TOWNSEND PLAN in its day and in its way was so far out in left field that only its beneficiaries were willing to go that far. Orthodox economists then and now abhor the plan, although the significant fact is that most of them no longer abhor the doctrine it embodies.

Dr. Townsend was a practicing physician. In the '30s, when millions of his countrymen were in grave economic trouble, he became concerned. He saw three old women rummaging through trash cans one morning. That did it.

He made up his mind that the United States was too proud to tolerate such poverty. That was his doctrine. He pulled some figures out of the air, combined them into a scheme that became world-famous as the Townsend plan and was overwhelmed by the reaction. That was in 1933. He was then 66 years old. He was 3 when he died.

If he had retained the salt and savor that were his most charming characteristics, he must have chuckled over the news of what was going on in Congress, in state legislatures and even in city councils.

BY THE TIME of his death, everybody was thinking up ways and means to underwrite the risks of advancing age and failing health—politicians, do-gooders and even the private insurance companies. The Townsend Plan had been turned down in every respect but principle.

Wherever the meeting place may be of people who proposed too much too soon, Francis E. Townsend and Jacob S. Coxey are entitled to sit there and receive reports of welfare-statism from the U.S.A. while they grin and tell each other, "We told them so."

New Theme In the New Cars

For those of us who still speculate about the contents of Christmas packages, this is a wonderful season.

This is when we speculate about the new automobiles that will be coming along soon to sharpen our appetites.

Because our speculation, itself, is part of the appetite-sharpening process, and is encouraged by automobile manufacturers, a good time is enjoyed by all.

This year, it looks as if a new idea might be crystallizing. The idea was still nebulous a year ago when U.S. manufacturers belatedly conceded that Americans who had been buying small cars from abroad were not freaks but customers who could not reasonably be ignored.

A year ago, manufacturers seemed to believe there should be two classes of cars—a big, expensive class and a smaller, less expensive class. This year, the evidence is that manufacturers are thinking about three classes.

The first class is the smallest, least expensive car that can be made—the utility class. It will be cheap to buy and cheap to operate.

The second class will be the middle-sized, middle-priced and middle-styled car—the kind on which the automobile era was built, only now becoming more efficient, instead of merely becoming heavier, longer, flashier and more expensive to operate.

The third class will be the all-out luxury car. It will come in all sizes, from very small to very large. But in each version it will be the quintessence of elegance and perfection. It will not, however, be the symbolic goal of all auto ownership, as it was for many years. Other cars will not be designed to imitate it but to reflect what they are in their separate categories. Utility models will be that, nothing more. The middle models will not be disguised either.

It's a happy prospect for auto owners and a more rational prospect for auto manufacturers.

Softness Starts In the Head

Recent events tend to substantiate the fear that Americans in this land of ease and plenty are growing soft.

Take the Olympics. In several events where the United States had dominated for years, Americans fell behind. They were beaten in the 100-meter dash for the first time in 28 years. In the 800-meter race, an event won 1936, the United States was out of the picture. Two instances alone won't support the fear of inadequacy, but add to this the report in a Pittsburgh newspaper on training in the Marines.

At Parris Island, Marine training base, finding reveal that the majority of young men are physically soft and unaccustomed to the shock and violence of physical contact.

The report states, "The greatest weakness in the young men is the arms and shoulders. Two-thirds of these who fail to meet Marine Minimum requirements fail because they cannot do pull-ups or push-ups."

Add to this the picture painted by Ralph McGill, publisher of the Atlanta Constitution, who in describing U-2 spy pilot Francis Gary Powers, said he was "an example of the immature, uninformed, average American today waiting desperately to have all the comforts of life with none of the work or responsibility."

President Eisenhower realized this physical fitness shortcoming in U.S. youth when he formed a national committee to work on the problem, but the problem can be solved only when the parents of today's youngsters realize that giving Junior everything they didn't have isn't necessarily the best thing for Junior.

American sports writers led us to think the United States was close to invincibility in most track and field events, but already we have been forced to take a back seat.

By H. I. Phillips

Next step will be to develop gadget to a point where phone can be used to start an automatic baby sitter, make Little Willie wash behind his ears and leave a message to the old man: "If dinner is no ready call the phone company. Will be late again today. Love, Jennifer."

And, of course, if husband complains he will get reply "If you don't like the way I run this house, take it up with the electronics experts."

FIFTY MORE NEW YORK policemen have been found to be working at outside jobs. These are strange days when cops are busy on NON-DUTY.

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service will hold sale of elk and buffalo to public. One hundred and eight dollars will get you a whole buffalo. Elks come at $100 per. That's alive on the hoof, which fails to appeal to us. We are always upset when the bell rings and the man says "I have a buffalo for you." How to get one in the icebox baffles me and we have no buffalo or elk closet, although the home builder promised everything.

The Wildlife Service will sell half a buffalo or elk and will carve and package it if you desire, at extra cost. If we develop an appetite for either we intend to ask for it packaged in the large economy size.

Somewhere deep in the recesses of Richard Nixon's campaign machinery an important speaking invitation received the treatment of a chipped cheese cracker on the crepe suzette table at Maxim's.

Victor Riesel

The request, which apparently never reached the vice president's desk was from the leadership of a progressive and rather mammoth union, the International Assn. of Machinists.

After waiting a while, its president, Al J. Hayes, personally telephoned Len Hall, manager of Nixon's forces. They talked and Hayes was told there would be a call back. It never came.

Yet many of the delegates to the Machinists' convention in St. Louis, which the vice president had been asked to address, have considerable influence in California.

It is true that most of the 1,300 convention delegates who are gathering in the Missouri city are more excited about John Kennedy than they have been about any Saved by the Bell . . .

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

other Democratic candidate since Franklin Roosevelt in '36. They create JFK in the image of FDR—as do most of their colleagues in yet labor.

Yet when Hayes invited Kennedy, the Democrat did not take any vote for granted. He scheduled a speech on a Tuesday night as a stopover on his way to Texas from hectic campaigning in California.

IT IS THIS camaraderie which is tying the labor people to Kennedy. He is reaching them as Adlai Stevenson never could.

That's why topside and many lower echelons are out there breaking their vocal chords and straining their treasuries for him. Never has Mr. Labor himself, AFL-CIO president, George Meany, been so enthusiastic over a candidate.

In the next few weeks, Meany has scheduled six major talks for Kennedy—and has pledged to hit the hustings with six or eight a week as ballot time rolls in.

One of Meany's pet projects in this drive is the registration campaign. It has a routine sound until you get an inside view of its operation. For this I went over to northern New Jersey the other day.

Sure enough, there I found the unions teaching some of the elders of ancient Democratic machines handed down by such masters as Frank Hague.

The labor people, paced mostly by Walter Reuther's auto organization aides, had seen to it that hundreds of bright college kids were hired early in the summer at $1.50 an hour. The vacationing students were briefed thoroughly on a mass survey, "in depth."

THEY WORKED from a script written for use after they knocked on every door. It runs something like this:

"Hello, I'm your neighbor. Are you registered? No. Are you a Democrat or Republican?"

At this point the script said, "Make a polite exit if you find a Republican." Say something about, "Even if we differ, we agree on registration." Then leave.

If it is a Democrat, ask about the others in the family: are there any now turning 21; give the neighbor a list of requirements for registration and tell them about Democratic activities.

Before Sept. 29, every house in every residential district will have been surveyed.

As the information pours into a central headquarters, it is broken down and prepared for action in batches of 10 names. These are used on mobile registration days.

ON SUCH DAYS, the election officials open registration places in front of supermarkets, churches and movie houses. The books are open from 6 to 9 p.m.

Each student is handed a batch of 10 cards. He (or she) then gets to his special sector. If any of the 10 Democrats have not yet registered to vote, the student arranges to drive him to the supermarket, etc.

If there are children, the student babysits or calls central for a stand-in sit-in.

Literally tens of thousands have been registered here—and I understand in other northern states—with similar operations.

It all emanates from the registration section of Kennedy headquarters in Washington, run by Roy Reuther and Rep. Frank Thompson.

They're working hard for their man and not missing a single vote if they can help it—and they sure can.

Khrushchev Has Americans Figured Wrong

So Nikita Khrushchev is coming to the United Nations General Assembly in New York later this month. Maybe, since he is trying to get lots of publicity, he might even go on Jack Paar's TV show!

As the Soviet boss will be arriving in the midst of the presidential campaign, he will have an opportunity to add to his insults of the outgoing President of the United States by insulting the next President, too.

The Soviet dictator just a few days ago called both Vice President Nixon and Sen. Kennedy "representatives of big capital" and "lackeys of monopoly capital." He became personal as he spoke contemptuously of Mr. Nixon as "the son of a grocery clerk."

Khrushchev continually shows his lack of understanding of the rules of common courtesy. He comes to this country despite the fact that he has not been invited. He blandly ignores his own action in extending an official invitation to the President of the United States to visit the Soviet Union and then cancelling it in pique.

Because the United Nations buildings happen to be located inside the United States and enjoy a kind of diplomatic status, the Soviet Premier can come to this country as the head of the Soviet delegation to the assembly without requiring any invitation or other action by the United States government.

One thing is clear. President Eisenhower is under no obligation to welcome the Soviet propagandist-in-chief or to take official notice of his visit to America.

MR. EISENHOWER can make any speeches on disarmament that he wishes to make to the world. It is unlikely that the President will attend those sessions of the United Nations at which the Soviet Premier is present.

Just what is Khrushchev's game or real purpose in coming to the United Nations meeting? Propaganda, of course.

He believes that his speeches will get wider publicity than those on the Soviet viewpoint toward disarmament which might have otherwise been made by his foreign minister.

The Premier, in his own clumsy way, may think also that perhaps he is making a gesture of good will toward this country which will make up for the rudeness he exhibited at the Paris Summit Conference.

He may still be under the illusion that Mr. Eisenhower doesn't stand high in the opinion of the American people.

In fact, Khrushchev's speeches all along have given the impression that he believes the people of this country are friendlier to communism than is their own government and that it's only a question of time—perhaps a generation or two—when American "liberalism" will be indistinguishable from communism.

By coming to America now, Nikita Khrushchev may be compounding the blunders he has committed in his previous handling of the United States government's policies and pronouncements.

HE MADE a gross error by wrecking the Summit Conference at Paris when he might have given a concession here and there and gotten one in return which he could have propagandized before his own people as a big victory for peace.

But shrewd and agile-minded as the Soviet dictator is, he completely misunderstands American psychology. By his insults flung at Mr. Eisenhower at Paris, he did more to unify American public opinion behind the President than anybody on this side of the Atlantic could ever have done.

Today both nominees for the presidency are far from eager to embrace Khrushchev or to sit down with him at summit meetings.

Even so mild a comment as Sen. Kennedy made in a thoughtless moment on the stump a few weeks ago about "expressing regret" to the Soviet Premier has earned him widespread criticism.

It is a safe bet that the Massachusetts senator isn't going to get chummy with the Soviet Premier, either this month or next year if he should be elected President.

What will the people of New York City do or say about the Khrushchev visit?

He isn't officially visiting America but he will have to move to and from the U.N. buildings to the Russian-owned villa on Long Island where he will probably stay.

DEMONSTRATIONS are inevitable. The representatives of the captive countries will doubtless parade the streets with "welcome, murderer!" signs.

For the kinsmen of those who were murdered on Khrushchev's order in Hungary cannot be polite to the man who is responsible also for the tyrannies being suffered today by the people of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, East Germany, Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia.

Just what can Khrushchev ever say about disarmament that anyone will believe?

He has refused to agree to safeguards and inspection systems that would be foolproof.

He keeps on prating about peace and a willingness to refrain from nuclear war.

But the American people are not likely to trust anyone who has so little sense as to insult the President of the United States before the world and at the same time insult a whole nation.

If Khrushchev really wants publicity, maybe he will get some he will not like when he comes to America this time.

Here We Go Again

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks that hat check girls get tired of hearing:

"You still here, Gloria? I thought you'd have a movie contract by now."

"I'm coming in tomorrow night with a client I want to impress. There'll be an extra two bits in it if you'll remember to call me by my first name. It's Joe."

"Here's a nickel for my hat, young lady, and a nickel for you."

"You got change for a twenty, kid? I gotta make a phone call."

"Yeh, she does look a little like the Mona Lisa—but she looks even more like Whistler's mother."

"Put your smile on, Gloria. Here come the customers."

"I hear she's working her son's way through college—or is it her grandson?"

"Don't think her tips don't add up. I hear she's a silent partner in Standard Oil."

"You'll have to put this one on the cuff, baby. The smallest I've got is a $10 bill."

"I know you usually get two bills a hat, but I'm wearing a cap today. Is fifteen cents okay?"

"I guess get in on a free pass tonight, Gloria. I left my hat in the office."

"I came by to pick up the hat my husband thinks he left here last week. I don't know the size or style, but you ought to remember my husband. He's small, bald, has a mole on his right cheek—and pinches every girl he meets."

"Could I also please check my rubbers, this package, my umbrella, these flowers for my wife, my briefcase, my raincoat, this newspaper and—"

"Seen any pith helmets lately?"

"How about me picking you up when the joint closes, and ten we can park my hat in your house? Whaddaya say, baby?"

"Is that wedding ring you're wearing a prop—or is it for real?"

"Do you have special rates for the clergy? No, I'm not a minister. I was just curious."

"I do her dental work. When she smiles, take a good long look at her left bicuspid. I'm pretty proud of that."

"Let's play nursery games—You be Little Red Riding Hood—and I'll be the wolf."

"I bought this hat for $7.50 in 1955. I been eating here twice a week for five years, and each time it has cost me 25 cents to check my hat. You know what that adds up to? It adds up to $30. It's an outrage!"

"Sure it's okay to give her a Canadian quarter. She's got a cousin in Ontario."

Mr. and Mrs. Merle R. Bell

Miss Clara Jane Schroeder Married to Merle R. Bell

Miss Clara Jane Schroeder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schroeder of Logansport, Ind., became the bride of Merle R. Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bell of the Salem-Youngstown Road, Sunday afternoon in a double ring ceremony in the First Methodist Church.

Palms and seven-branch candelabra graced the altar for the ceremony performed by the Rev. William Snowball.

Nuptial melodies were played by the organist, Alda Kirkbride of Salem.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a floor-length gown of silk taffeta. The sabrina neckline was outlined in Alencon lace, studded with sequins and pearls. The torso bodice featured long pointed sleeves. Lace appliques were repeated on the full bouffant skirt, ending in a chapel train.

Her French illusion veil was attached to a crown of lace and orange blossoms. She carried a cascade bouquet of white baby mums and ivy.

Attending the bride was Marlene Knoll, who was attired in a ballerina-length gown of blue silk taffeta, with bands of darker blue velvet trimming the boat neckline, short sleeves and bouffant skirt. She wore a matching velvet headband with theatre veil. Pale ivory and bronze baby mums and ivy formed her bouquet.

Ronald Shaffer of Salem was Mr. Bell's best man. The ushers were Larry Schroeder of Logansport, Ind., brother of the bride, and Eugene Bell of Salem, brother of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Schroeder chose a jersey sheath in blue paisley print, with navy accessories. Mrs. Bell wore a gray tweed dress with matching jacket with black and pink accessories. Corsages of yellow baby mums complemented their attire.

Mrs. R. J. Jackson, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. C. C. King, grandmother of the bridegroom, enhanced their outfits with corsages of yellow mums.

One hundred and fifty guests greeted the couple at the reception in Fellowship Hall. The bride's table was laid with a white cloth covered with a net overskirt, caught at the edges with nosegay of yellow flowers. The four-tiered wedding cake was topped with a bridal figurine and was encircled with ivy.

Mrs. Ralph Jackson, aunt of the bride, Mrs. Ed Westphal, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Ronald Shaffer served the guests from Bluffton and Decatur, Ind., Kent, Canton, Cambridge, Lisbon, Salem and East Palestine.

The bride is a 1959 graduate of Salem High School. Her husband attended Salem schools and is employed by the Timberlans.

For her wedding trip to southern Ohio and Kentucky, Mrs. Bell wore a blue cotton dress with white accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet. They will reside at 755 1/2 E. 5th St.

The bridegroom's parents were hosts at the rehearsal party Saturday evening at their home.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. H. T. HYMAN

Swelling Signals Lymph Node War

That olive-shaped nubbins you feel in your groin is usually referred to as a "gland." So, too, the more rounded swelling that appears under your jawbone when you've got an infected tooth or a sore throat.

Dr. H. T. Hyman, like the thyroid extract that's a product of the gland that lies on your windpipe (trachea), looking much like a bow tie.

In actuality, each of these is a lymph node. Not a gland. Since a gland, by definition, manufactures a substance that pours forth like saliva, or one that's secreted directly into your blood stream, like the thyroid extract that's a product of the gland that lies on your windpipe (trachea), looking much like a bow tie.

Leetonia

Lisbon Board Contracts For Coal, Milk Let

LYMPH NODES are scattered all over the body. Most notably under the jaw in the neck, in the arm pit and in the groin. Wherever they're located, they act as a combination barracks and casualty clearing station.

When you have a localized infection, like an abscess of fingers or toes, they'll send out a small army of protective cells (lymphocytes) to help fight attacking bugs.

And, as soon as the first wave of fighters leaves for the front, they start boot camps for replacements. Pretty soon, they're buzzing with excitement that manifests itself to you by local soreness and swelling.

While the battle is in progress, they also act as casualty clearing stations. Dying and dead enemy bacteria and soldiers are brought in, causing the swelling and pain to increase.

AS SOON AS they get the situation in hand, they close the boot camp and dispose of their casualties. You note that the pain and tenderness have disappeared. The swelling goes down shortly thereafter.

Sometimes, they're overwhelmed by the enemy. When this happens, invading bugs travel up the lines of communication (lymphatics) previously used to get the army of protective lymphocytes to the front.

Battle lines are drawn within the node. If the defenders are beaten, the node may be destroyed. Then you are told that the abscess has spread and may have to be drained surgically if it does not open by itself.

AND SOMETIMES, when the going gets particularly rough, enemy troops slip by the node and get directly into the blood stream.

Pictures of Umpires Used For Extortion

ODENTON, Md. (AP) — Ed Runge says a photograph taken of himself and another American League umpire, Bill McKinley, with two women in a motel room, was used in an extortion attempt. Runge told a magistrate's hearing Tuesday that he and McKinley had been in the motel room in suburban Washington, D.C., "no time at all—five to 10 minutes" Aug. 28 when two men "broke in and took a picture."

The umpire identified Donald E. Anderson, 32, and Robert O. Waldron, 30, both of Washington, already charged with attempted extortion, as the men who took the picture.

Magistrate J. Nelson Clark held Anderson, Waldron and one of the women in a total of $12,500 bail for action of the grand jury which convenes Oct. 17.

Anderson and Waldron are charged with trying to extort $2,000 from the umpires, Mary Jane Spencer, 21, a dancer from Suitland, Md., was charged with aiding in the extortion plot.

Another dancer, Helen I. Elia, 24, of Washington, was released on $500 bail as a material witness.

signal at the intersection for north-bound traffic permits the traffic constant flow but that normal precautions are not observed.

He and other Councilmen agreed that the signal helped immensely in keeping traffic fluid but that the caution needed was a responsibility of the police.

Councilman Albert Lesch added to this a complaint about a school bus which stops and unloads school children at Newgarden and Liberty Sts. and leaves without waiting for the children to cross the street.

Parks Report Submitted

C.F. Tomlinson, superintendent of Parks, reported that this year's attendance and income at the Centennial Park swimming pool was down compared to a year ago.

He said the pool was used by 45,638 persons in 1959 compared to 47,792 this year. Income, he said, was down from $8,966 to $8,564. In recent weeks, Tomlinson has attributed the decline to poor weather conditions.

The playground program has shown an increase in participation, Tomlinson reported. He said registrations this year were up to 1,102 with a total attendance of 10,436. This averaged out to 267 children per day. Since 1956 when attendances were first recorded, Tomlinson said, the program has grown each year.

City Engineer F.S. Barckhoff reported to Council that he took in $177.50 in building permit fees in August.

City Dump Is Cleared

A bulldozing program to eliminate the mountains of rubbish at the city dump is underway, according to a report from Councilman Lesch. He noted also that a privately owned firm was operating a sanitary landfill in the area of the dump.

A badly obstructed view for motorists at the intersection of Newgarden and Mill Sts. was criticized by Councilman Arthur Hanna. He said he has viewed the area and agrees with residents' complaints of poor visibility.

Councilman Donald Cannon, head of the Street Lighting Committee, announced that his committee held a meeting with Glenn Harding of the Ohio Edison Co. Aug. 26, relative to the sale of the Street Lighting system to that firm. However, he said he had nothing more to report on the meeting other than that it was held.

Mayor Cranmer's financial report to Council for August was read by Council Clerk Charles Alexander, showing receipts of $1,568.20.

Integration

Virginia cities, Roanoke and Paulsboro.

Negroes attended public schools with white youngsters without incident in a gradually increasing number of other Southern cities.

Florida's first public secondary school was integrated in token fashion when a Negro girl enrolled at North Miami Beach Junior High along with 1,390 white pupils.

But the Deep South states of Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina stood firm although New Orleans has been ordered to integrate Nov. 14 and Atlanta by next fall.

A dozen Negroes attended opening classes with white pupils at Central and Hall high schools in Little Rock, Ark., scene of segregationist demonstrations in past years. There was no sign of trouble this time.

Near Pine Bluff, Ark., a Negro girl, 6, prepared to attempt to break the racial barrier today at the all-white Dollarway District School. Dolores Jean York, a first grader, was assigned to the school by the board in compliance with a federal court order.

Segregationists have been active in the Dollarway District since three Negro teenagers tried unsuccessfully to integrate the school early in 1959.

Pirates Win But Lose Dick Groat for Season

Pitch by Lew Burdette Breaks Wrist of Sparkplug Shortstop

2nd Place Cardinals Open Series At Forbes Field Tonight; Reds Win

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Can Pittsburgh make it without Dick Groat?
Despite a seven-game lead with only 21 games left to play, the Pirates' bid for the first National League pennant in 33 years suffered a stiff jolt Tuesday night when Groat, their sparkplug shortstop, was sidelined for the rest of the season with a broken left wrist.

Groat, a top contender for the NL's Most Valuable Player award, was struck on the wrist by a slider from Milwaukee right-hander Lew Burdette in the first inning of the Pirates' comeback, 5-3 victory over the Braves.

With Groat, runner-up in the NL bat race with a .325 average to Norm Larker's .331 for Los Angeles, out of business, the shortstop job falls to Dick Schofield, the one-time $40,000 bonus baby of the St. Louis Cardinals who has spent his time on the bench with a big glove and a small bat.

The Cardinals move into Forbes Field for their final shot at the Pirates tonight. They took over second place while idle Tuesday hired, dropped their second decision in the three-game set at Pittsburgh. Los Angeles beat San Francisco 7-0, and Cincinnati won 6-1 at Philadelphia in 10 innings.

The Pirates, after blowing a 2-0 lead, battled back and beat Warren Spahn for the second time in two days. The Milwaukee left-hander, now 17-9, couldn't re-

Mickey Vernon, recently switched from coach to the active roster, delivered a pinch single off reliever Ron Piche to make it a three-run inning.

Right-hander Don Drysdale (13-13) won his seventh in a row at the Los Angeles Coliseum—where he said no one could win—with a six-inning. He struck out eight, walked none. Norm Larker's fourth home run, with a man on defeated Georges Maranda (1-4) in the first inning. The Dodgers, helped by one of Willie Mays' infrequent errors, scored their other five in the third on Gil Hodges' three-run double and a two-run triple by Drysdale.

Five singles and Ted Lepcio's error on a doubleplay ball gave the Reds five in the 10th at Philadelphia and beat Johnny Buzhardt (4-14). Jim Brosnan (7-2) was the winner in relief.

LISTON FIGHTS TONIGHT
SEATTLE (AP) — Eddie Machen of Portland, Ore., and Sonny Liston of Philadelphia clash tonight in a 12-round bout which will put the victory—both fighters hope—on the threshold of a crack at Floyd Patterson's world heavy-weight title. The nationally televised scrap will go on at 9 p.m., EST.

Richardson Upsets Aussie Davis Cupper

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP)—The most feared player in the National Tennis Championships was sitting at a Wall Street desk today, deeply involved in the high finance of stocks and bonds.

His name is Hamilton Richardson. He's 27 and an ex-U. S. Davis Cupper. He takes his tennis in small doses these days while working as a customer's man among the bulls and bears of the big street.

But Tuesday, he scored the biggest upset in the tournament, eliminating Roy Emerson, Australian Davis Cupper, 3-6, 6-4, 9-7, 8-6.

The victory immediately brought up the logical question: If he can beat the Aussies as a weekend player, couldn't he do it in the Davis Cup?

Answer: Not interested. "There's no pressure on me now," said the unseeded Richardson, who walked out on the Davis Cup team in a feud with then-captain Perry Jones two years ago.

"If I win, great. And if I lose, I'm just a weekend player."

Top-seeded Neale Fraser of Australia, the defending champion, and Earl (Butch) Buchholz of St. Louis, seeded No. 4, both advanced. Fraser downed Gerald Moss of Miami Beach 6-3, 6-2, 6-4. Buchholz eliminated Jim McManus of Berkeley, Calif., 6-1, 6-2, 7-5.

Maria Bueno of Brazil, the defending champion and seeded No. 1, led the way into the quarter-finals of the women's division with a 6-1, 6-4 triumph over Barbara Browning of Burbank, Calif.

Yanks, Chisox Jolted; Orioles Lead by 1½

By The Associated Press
With Chicago's defending champion White Sox awash, and the New York Yankees stumbling, the first-place Baltimore Orioles open an 11-game road trip tonight that could settle the American League pennant scrap.

The Baby Birds, taking off with a 1½-game lead, start the 12-day run in Cleveland and end it with four games at Yankee Stadium.

In between, the Orioles play two at Chicago, one at Kansas City and two at Detroit. Thus far, they've had a 23-12 record in the West.

The second-place Yankees lost a half-game to the idle Orioles Tuesday, taking a 7-1 walloping from the Boston Red Sox. It was the Yanks' fifth loss in seven games.

The third-place White Sox fell 4½ games behind in a 3-2, ninth-inning loss at Kansas City. Cleveland defeated Detroit 10-8 on Ken Aspromonte's two-run homer in the 10th inning in the only other AL game.

Right-hander Billy Muffett won his fifth for the Red Sox with a three-hitter. He had the Yankees shut out on two singles until Mickey Mantle hit his 32nd home run with two out in the ninth.

The Red Sox tagged Eli Grba (3-4) with the defeat, building a 5-0 lead in the first five frames. Pumpsie Green started it with a leadoff, inside-the-park home run in the first inning. Ted Williams bagged it with a three-run shot in the fifth—his 26th home run of the season and No. 518 lifetime. Kansas City made it two straight over the White Sox with two runs in the ninth on Hank Bauer's bases-loaded single. Ken Johnson (4-9) was the winner in relief.

ST. LOUIS BOWLERS ON TOP

Don Carter of St. Louis headed Bowling Magazine's 1960 All-American bowling team, selected by the nation's leading bowling writers, sports editors and sportscasters. Three other St. Louis bowlers, Ray Bluth, Dick Weber, and Harry Smith, along with Billy Golembiewski of Detroit, were also named to the first team.

Aspromonte's Homer in 10th Wins for Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jim Perry will get his sixth chance at a 16th victory tonight when the Cleveland Indians open a two-game series with the league-leading Baltimore Orioles to begin a 16-game home stand.

The 24-year-old right-hander has made five starts since his last victory Aug. 13. Three ended in defeat for him and he did not figure in the decision in the other two games.

Perry (15-7) will be opposed tonight by Milt Pappas, another young right-hander who has won 13 and lost 8.

The Orioles, who lead the New York Yankees by a game and a half, will play their last game of the season here Thursday night. Dick Stigman will open for the Indians and will be opposed by Jack Fisher.

Washington will be here for games Friday night and Saturday afternoon, then the Indians meet the Yankees in a doubleheader Sunday.

Then come two games with Boston, four with Kansas City, one with Detroit and three with Chicago.

Ken Aspromonte hit a two-run homer in the 10th inning that gave the Indians a 10-8 victory over the Tigers at Detroit Tuesday night. The triumph was the sixth in the last seven games for the Indians and moved them within one-half game of fourth-place Washington.

The winner was Frank Funk, recently purchased from Toronto of the International League, who pitched the last four innings and gave up only one hit. The win was the second straight for Funk since he joined the club Sept. 1. He walked ahead of Aspromonte's game-winning home run.

Shortstop Woodie Held also drove in two runs with his 20th homer of the season—fifth in five games—in the fourth inning. He scored behind Tito Francona, who doubled.

The Indians knocked out starter Pete Burnside with a three-run rally in the first inning and added three more in the second when Francona doubled with the bases loaded.

The Tigers picked up a run in the first, two in the second, three in the fifth and tied the score at 3-3 in the sixth on a two-run single by Charley Maxwell.

The Indians pounded four Detroit pitchers for 16 hits, while the Tigers got 15 hits off starter Bobby Locke, Don Newcombe and Funk.

Bill Alley Fails to Qualify for U.S. In Javelin

World Record Holder Loses Out In Trials; 13 Reach Finals

Rafer Johnson Wins Decathlon; Russians Lead Americans by 30

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor
ROME (AP) — The United States' 1,600-meter relay team, featuring the gold medal-winning Davis boys, flashed into the semifinals at the Olympic Games today but America's field prestige took another heavy blow when world record holder Bill Alley of Short Hills, N.J., failed to qualify for the javelin finals.

Otis Davis of Los Angeles, who won the 400-meter run in world record time Tuesday, and 400-meter hurdles champion Glenn Davis of Columbus, Ohio, triggered the 1,600-meter relay quartet into the afternoon semifinals. Jack Yerman and Earl Young ran the two other legs for Uncle Sam's foursome which won the last of four qualifying heats eased up in 3 minutes, 10.4 seconds.

Alley, 6-foot-3, 222-pound former Kansas University star, had three attempts to top the qualifying minimum of 242 feet, 9 1/2 inches but the best he could manage was 225-3/4. His record, set recently in an Olympic warm-up meet, is 283-4 1/4.

Thirteen of the 28 competitors matched or passed the qualifying minimum for Thursday's final, seven from the first group and six from the second.

Al Cantello, Norristown, Pa., hit 261-6 1/4 on his third and last attempt to avert a U.S. whitewash in the preliminaries. The third American entry, Terry Beucher, Overland Park, Kan., didn't make it.

Mowery's Homer Gives Kresge's Win Over Class H Stars

Doug Mowery's home run, leading off the fifth inning, gave league champion Kresge's a hard-earned 6-5 victory over the Class H All-Stars in the final Salem Slove League game of the season played Tuesday night at Centennial Park.

Kresge's had jumped off to a 5-0 lead, then stood by and watched the All-Stars capitalize on every break to knot the count with four markers in the third and one in the fourth.

Singles by Mowery, Terry Daily, Val Altomare and a double by John Shivers led to Kresge's four runs in the opening inning off Pitcher Scott Cody who went all the way on the mound for the All-Stars. Cody fanned five batters and didn't walk a man — something unusual in the league for 8 and 9 year olds.

Walt Simpson and Mowery held the All-Stars to just two hits. However, both of these blows, singles by Cody and Gary Polder, came in the third inning when the Stars tallied four big runs. Kresge's chipped in with two errors that frame.

HARD WAY EAGLE
DENVER — Scott Hayden Jr., a 15-year-old golfer, got his eagle on the par five 572-yard 18th at the Denver Country Club without hitting a shot of less than 170 yards.

That was the distance covered by his tee shot. He used a 2-wood for his second and got 210 yards. Then Scott peeled out his 3-wood and hit one 192 yards and into the cup.

Bigger, Faster Than 1959 Squad

Akron Hoban Could Be Bad News for Quakers

There's bad news for the Salem High Quakers coming from over Akron way.

Bob Zupke, coach of the Akron Hoban team which will help the Quakers open their 1960 football season here Friday night, reports that his club will be the fastest in the school's history and potentially a better squad than the one which battled the Quakers on almost even terms last season.

"It's much too early to tell just how good we're going to be but we've held our own so far in three scrimmages," Coach Zupke observed. The Knights have scrimmaged three other Akron teams this season, South, North and Ellet.

Like Salem, Akron Hoban fielded an almost all-senior ball club last year. Speedy Halfback Jerry O'Reilly is the only man returning from the starting team which bowed to Salem, 6-0, in one of the best played and most interesting games seen at Reilly Stadium last season.

O'REILLY WAS the man who repeatedly flashed behind the Salem defenders last season and was just barely missing connections with Dan Leonard's southpaw passes.

Two other boys who saw considerable action against Salem last year and will be in the starting lineup on Friday night are John Shannon, 165 - pound guard and John Lapkowski, 180-pound fullback. Both are seniors.

The other starting halfback this year will be Dave Fortunato, 175-pound senior who Coach Zupke says is even faster than O'Reilly. Fortunato will be stationed at left half.

Marty Lappin, 175-pound junior, has moved into the starting quarterback role, replacing the departed Leonard. Lappin is a right handed thrower and Coach Zupke says he is already as good as Leonard was last year.

PLAYING AT RIGHT guard, opposite Shannon, will be Gary Hadcox, 165-pound senior. The tackles will be Dan Hoynes, 190-pound senior, and John Seman, 180-pound junior. John Gary, 165-pound senior, will be at center.

The Knights have a pair of big 6-3 ends. They are John Englehart, 195-pound senior and Jerry Savoy, 190-pound junior. With two good ends and a speedy halfback, O'Reilly, who likes to catch passes, Coach Zupke says his team will throw a lot this season.

"We haven't had time to do much work on defense," Zupke stated. "We're still looking for players to do the job there," he added.

STEVE SITKO, 170-pound junior, has earned himself a job as a defensive guard, the coach indicated. Zupke plans to test a few more defensive switches this week in practice.

Coach Zupke says he plans no changes in the basic split-T offense with the belly series that the Knights used here last year.

Zupke, former Barborton High and John Carroll University athlete, has been at Hoban for six seasons. Hoban, a parochial school, draws students from all sections of Summit County. There are approximately 1,000 students in the all-boy school.

Farrell, Canton Eliminated

Cleveland, Massillon Win in Salem Tourney

Cleveland Auto Springs and the Massillon Rockets advanced in the losers bracket of the Salem Invitational Softball Tournament Tuesday night at Kelley Field while Canton Dumont Sports and Farrell 7-Up joined the growing list of 17 teams which have bowed out of the double elimination affair.

A scheduled game between East Liverpool AVP and Youngstown Ma-Fe was postponed until Thursday at the request of the East Liverpool club.

Cleveland had an easy time defeating Farrell 7-Up, 6-2, but the Massillon Rockets' 2-1 win over Canton Dumont Sports was tight all the way.

CLEVELAND PILED UP a 6-0 lead before Farrell broke its scoring famine with two runs in the bottom of the seventh. Ace hurler Rip Fugate of Cleveland came on in the seventh in relief of Hoffman and recorded the final out. Hoffman had recorded 10 strikeouts and given up five hits in the 6 2-3 innings he worked.

Kirby Laughlin, the former Salem athlete, reached base twice—once on a sacrifice and once by getting hit with a pitch—in four trips to the plate.

Dumont Sports outthit Massillon, 5-2, but came out on the short end of a 2-1 score. Ramsbottom was the winning hurler while Noland, who relieved Gehring in the second, was tagged with the loss.

MASSILLON COLLECTED both of its hits in the fourth inning, a triple by Conley and a double by Smith, to score what proved to be the winning run. The Rockets made a hit batsman, sacrifice and walk pay off for a run in the opening frame.

There will be no tournament games tonight but on Thursday at Kelley Field, the four unbeaten teams remaining in the tourney are paired against each other. Youngstown Skyway Tavern is pitted against Youngstown Shangri-La and defending champion Akron

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My father went to the dentist and got all new teeth. He looks a lot better but he refuses to eat what my mother puts on the table. All he wants to do is drink beer.

This is causing lots of arguments in our house. Mom says he will die of starvation if he doesn't eat some solid food.

Pop says beer is nourishing and he can live on it just fine.

Mom says if he plans to live on beer he'd better do it someplace else the gets pretty noisy around 10 o'clock, and by midnight he asleep on the couch).

He claims he's tired from working so hard. Mom says he's passing out.

Any advice you can give will be welcome - NERVOUS AT 11.

Dear Nervous: Your dad isn't eating because his teeth aren't comfortable. He should go back to the dentist and get his dentures adjusted. On that beer diet he could wind up an alcoholic in no time.

No Trial Marriage

Dear Ann: I'm a girl who has a terrible home life. My folks fight all the time. There are only three bedrooms in this house for 10 people.

My aunt and uncle moved in six months ago and they sleep in the living room. I can't have any company over here because diapers are strung all over the house. The place always looks like a tornado hit it.

A fellow, 24, has asked me to marry him. He's very nice but he was born in the old country and has old-country ways. He also talks like a foreigner and it embarrasses me.

Ezra has his own business and makes good money. I know he could give me some of the nice things in life.

The problem is, Ezra wants me to move in with him and his mother for a month to see if we all can get along together.

He has made it plain that as long as his mother lives we will have to share her home. My folks say it's up to me to decide. Please help me. - VERONICA.

Dear Veronica: Do you want to loan yourself out on a 30-day trial like an automatic dishwasher? I'm against it.

You don't love this man. He simply offers an opportunity to get out of the house. Stay home where you belong until you feel in your heart that you're marrying for the right reasons.

And tell him no thank you on the 30-day free-trial offer. If he had minimum respect for you he wouldn't suggest such a thing.

Departing Guests

Dear Ann: This may seem, at first glance, a trifling matter. But, please, before you discard it, give it a minute's thought.

The other evening we were visiting in the home of friends. When we left they slammed the door shut on us seconds after we walked out. It made me feel uncomfortable, as if they couldn't wait to get rid of us. This has happened to us before.

When people visit in our home my wife and I always walk with them to their car or, if the weather is bad, we stand in the doorway until they drive off. It seems rude to do otherwise. Or am I old-fashioned? - HOSPITALITY UNLIMITED.

Dear Unlimited: Apparently you and your wife are more gracious than the people you visit. It's bad manners to slam the door shut on people the moment they leave. It is flattering to departing guests to spend the extra minutes with them.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Grandma Moses Reaches Century Mark on Birthday

EAGLE BRIDGE, N.Y. (AP)—The century mark arrived today for beloved Grandma Moses, and, with a twinkle in her hazel eyes, she reports: "I'm going to live to be 200."

The diminutive, still active painter, whose primitive rural scenes are known around the world, also promises to keep laughing.

That is one of her rules for staying young: Keep busy, keep in young company and keep laughing.

Although Grandma's 100th birthday was today, she celebrated it last Sunday so that working friends and family members could participate in the festivities. There were 125 visitors, each greeted by Grandma at a dining-room table stacked with greetings from many lands.

The fragile seeming, white-haired, 100-pound bundle of fun, who began painting when in her 70s, is considered in good condition by her doctor.

Two Men Fined on Contributing Count

LISBON—Roderick Torrence, 22, of Seabenville and Jack Crites, 21, of RD 1, Mingo Junction, were each fined $50 and costs Tuesday and given suspended six-month jail sentences at a hearing before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 17-year-old Mingo Junction youth.

The penalties resulted from an alleged beer drinking party July 15 at the Twin Truck Stop, north of Salineville.

The jail sentences were suspended on condition the two do not re-enter Columbiana County for one year, and do not associate with anyone under 18 years of age.

Norman Butler of Salineville, owner-operator of the Twin Spruce Truck Stop, appeared in Juvenile Court and pleaded not guilty to contributing to the delinquency of juveniles. His bond was set at $2,000 pending a hearing Wednesday, Sept. 21, at 9:30 a.m.

MEDIATOR - Francis O'Neill, Jr., chairman of the National Railway Mediation Board, is the mediator in current strike by Transport Workers Union and the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Firestone
"NYLON 500"
WITH ALL-ACTION TREAD

Revolutionary Break-Through in Tire Manufacture Gives You Action-Traction in the Center of the Tread

- ★ puts up to 83% more working elements on the road at all times
- ★ assures safer stops and positive starts
- ★ provides an extra margin of safety at high speeds
- ★ sets new standards of protection against blowouts, punctures, skidding

 INCREASES TIRE MILEAGE UP TO 36%

Here's how Firestone...for the FIRST TIME in tire history...puts traction in the center of the tread:

Revolutionary 3-piece mold

Firestone's exclusive 3-piece mold is the secret of total-action-traction. Conventional 2-piece molds leave a "dead spot" in the center of the tread.

These drawings illustrate how the action area extends the full width of the tread, with no "dead spot" in the center of the tread...where action-traction is needed most. Some manufacturers even leave the center open...offering no traction at all in the center of the tread.

PLUS...THESE OTHER FIRESTONE FEATURES

- 3-ply, Safety-Fortified NYLON cord body
- Monofilament NYLON bead chafe
- 4-ply Super-Safe tubeless inner liner
- Race-tire "Speedway-Weld" of tread to body
- Cord plies angled for maximum stability
- Firestone Rubber X-101 for a "Hush-Hush" Ride

WE HAVE THESE REMARKABLE TIRES IN STOCK NOW...IN 14" Size To Fit Your Car

Make it a point to come in and see these tires for yourself. Let us explain the advantages of the ALL-ACTION TREAD and what it means to you in safety and down-to-earth dollars and cents value received. Let us explain too, how easy these tires are to own. We'll buy every penny's worth of unused mileage in your present tires when you trade them for new 500's. We're sure you'll be pleasantly surprised at how little it costs to equip your car with Firestone 500 nylon tires with ALL-ACTION TREAD.
